There was a good attendance at the rooms of Leavitt, Strebeigh & Co., in Clinton Hall, yesterday morning, the tenth day of the Book Trade sale, and the bicding was brisk, as it has been throughout. The volumes yet unsold are of various character, comprising historical, poetical, philosophical and medical works, besides a large number of juvenile books. The prices averaged two-fifths and one-bair of the retail price.

In justice to Deputy Coroner Shine, who was mentioned in the HERALD of yesterday as having committed an assault on a brother physician, it is but fair to state that the patient concerning whose illness the affair resulted disavows having employed by Merril to affend her, and further states that in acr belief the injuries he sustained were accidentally inflicted during a quarrel between himself and her husband, who had previously ordered him to

One of the latest devices of the New York swind iers who dupe verdant people in the rural districts into engaging in the crime of dealing in counterfeit surrency is to enclose, with the usual circular offercurrency is to enclose, with the usual circular offering the opportunity of realizing a rapid fortune in that branch of trade, a printed slip purporting to be from the New York Hebald, and printed in inflation of the top of the first column of the editorial page, setting forth that the city is being flooded with counterfeits which are perfect and cannot be detected—shen counterfeits, of course, being floose which the swindlers in question have to dispose of, betters are constantly received at this office from postmasters and others inquiring into the matter, and the swindle is also well known to the police authorities; but there seems to be no way of preventing it. Honest people, of course, will pay no attention to any such invitations to crime; but it is well to notify even the dishonestly medined of this lattle device for victimizing them.

The Self-Accused Prisoner Protests His Inno cence-Remanded till To-Day for Examina-

Francis J. Kipling, the young man who was ar rested on his own confession of being in some way connected with the Twenty-third street tragedy, was yesterday afternoon brought up at the Tombs Police Court, before Judge Dowling. He was brought up in charge of detective Farley and also the satisfaction of all parties that he had no more to do with it than the "man in the moon."

The police attach no importance to the arrest, though it is a singular thing that all the lonaties who have lately been arrested have made random confessions to connection with the murder of Mr. Nathan; the police hear of these statements, make the arrests and then find, as will in all probability be the case in the present instance, that they have been misled by incoherent ravings of cracked brained drunkards and innate idiots. It is nevertheless a dangerous kind of joring, and it is to be hoped that the present prisoner will be taught a lesson for the trouble he has given the police, and endeavor in foure to apply himself in his lapidary instead of pedding his respectable friends before the public coupled with such a serious affair as this horrid marder.

BRAINED WITH AN AXE.

A Desperate Affray in Jamaica-A Negress Assaults a Colored Sister With an Axe-Her Skull Broken and Death Imminent.

In the village of Jamaica there is probably the worst class of negroes to be found in part of this State. They are idle and discourteous, and the majority of them thieve for a living, the proceeds of their plunder, being wasted in riot and debauchery. The aristocratic classes; encourage them in this, and not with standing the provisions of the excise law relative to Sunday traffic, the hotels and saloons are thrown open with as much indifference as though the Sabbath was but a day for rlot and bloodshed and money making. This fact is attributable to the degeneracy of the local officials, who are now controlled by politicians and cliques.

On Sunday evening one of those whiskey brawls, so common on Sunday evenings, occurred in Jamaica between two women of color named Georgians Rhodes and Phoebe Moore, alias Black Phoebe, Both were under the induence of the ardent. Phoebe seized an axe and struck Georgians several blows, one taking effect on the head, making a deep increasion, fracturing the skull and otherwise injuring her. She would have kided her on the spot but for the timely interference of some parties who heard her eries. Dr. Hendrickson was summoned to dress her wounds and has no hopes of her recovery. Officer Snedeker repaired to the scene of the assanit and arrested Phoebe, who was committed by Judge Snedeker to await the result of Georgiana's injuries.

A few minutes past tweive o'clock on Sunday night a fire broke out in a wooden stable in the rear of Dr. E. B. Middlebrook's carriage repository, on Middle street. The flames spread rapidly and before they could be checked burned the City Hotel stables Middle street, Middlebrook's brick statte building on Beaver street, the upper story of Kusterer& Stander's furniture establishment on Beaver, and the rear of several stores on Main street. There is an aggregate loss of about $40,000. In the various stables were first horses, all of which were got out alive. There was a large loss of carriages, harnesses There was a large loss of carriages, harnesses, and wery stable furniture, and several families its large in the upper part of the buildings on hain and Beaver streets barely escaped with their lives, losing everyining. The stillness of the night and the great exertions of the firemen alone prevented the destruction of the entire signare. The following are the chief losers:—Dr. E. E. Middlebrook, $16,000, no insurace; Klisterer & Stander, furniture, $2,000, insured; J. & F. AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE-LE PRITT FAUST .- The revival of opera boufe at this establishment last evening attracted about as large an audience as the building could well contain. Prepared for a brilhant display by a good deal of trumpeting, the pub-lic of course, ever ready to ran for novelty, in what-ever shape, crowded the Opera House to an extent more than was comfortable. "Le Petit Faust," Herve's great effort, was produced. In an artistic point of view the music is infinitely superior to even Orienbach's best, and its performance last might created quite a delightful impres-sion. In some portions there is a most ingenious imitation of Gounod's instrumentasion. In some portions there is a most ingenious imitation of Gounod's instrumentation. The garden scene was particularly good. The waitz of the nations is there introduced, and almost excelled anything of the kind yet offered of its character. The "Carnival of Venice" is beautifully interwoven, and the effect upon the audience was shown in the spontaneous and well-merited round of approbation which it received. Throughout the production abounds in charming morceaux, exquisite duets and a few spiendid choruses, more especially in the first act, which is superb. There is a most appropriate vein of humor running through the selections, which is perfectly enchanting, and the success which has attended "Le Petit Faust" is alone due to Herve himself. This buriesque is lair, but as for the moral conveyed it would be much better were the sentiments expressed in some language unknown to the present generation. Of the artists there is much to be said—more, perhaps, than many of them would like to hear. A word to the wise isoccasionally sufficient. In the opening scene a schoolroom is presented, the pupils being supposed to be gambolling about. Fatist (M. M. Gausins), with "it pour me braver quet moment," and, after a dialogue with Schoel, Valentine (M. M. Hittenmans) enters, followed by his regiment, snaging the fine chorus, "Valiant Guerriers," which was deservedly encored. Marguente (Mie. Montaland) is introduced with the air "Fleur de Candem." The haacrous scene which ensues between Faust and Marguerite was not particularly noteworthy. Mepanistophles (Mie. Silly) comes in with the fine roddean "de sais Mephisto." and the act terminates with an excellent chorus, "Vive l'Amour." The feature of the second was "La Valse des Nations," in winch Mie. Silly distinguished herself, as det also opagense." But it is unnecessary to go timoning details. None of the artists were very brilliant. Indeed, not a few were disappointed in the quality of the leading voices. Hittemans made a capital Valentin, while Faust bad a fair represe tion. The garden scene was particularly good. The WALLACE'S-THE RIVALS .- After the opening of this home of standard comedy the season may be onsidered at its height. No matter what the attractions at other theatres may be, the season is not regarded as fairly begun until the portals of the two leading establishments in comedy-Wallack's and the Fifth Avenueare thrown open to their fashionable patrons. The house looks resplendent and fresh from the skilful hands of the painters and carpenters, and the new dome is an immense improvement. The act drop, in its delicate lace drapery, is in exquisite taste, and the upholsterer has done much service throughout the auditorium. The attendance was of throughout the suditorium. The attendance was of the old standard quality of fashion that may always be seen at a Weilack opening, and each member of the company was received with a hearty welcome. The play was Sheritaan's imperistable "fivals," with the following cast:—Sir Anthony Absolute, Mr. Join Gilbert; Captain Absolute (his first appearance at tins theatree, Mr. George Charke; Sir Lucius O'Trigger, Mr. John Brougham; Fautikiand, Mr. R. T. Ringgold; Bob Acres, Mr. J. H. Stoddart; Javid, Mr. J. C. Williamson; Fag, Mr. E. M. Holland; Thomas (coachman), Mr. W. J. Leonard; James, Mi. J. Peck; Boy, Master Hern; Lydia Languish, Miss Madeime Henriques; Mrs. Mahaprop, Miss Emily Mestayer; Julia (her first appearance at this theatre), Miss Heleu Tracy; Lucy, Miss Annie Deland. To begin at the beginning of the admirable, inimitable, and, we may say, time-honored Sir Authony of Mr. Gilbert. He is the last left to us of a grand old school for which such a comedy seems to have been particularly written. The courtly old geatteman, the obstinate, testy baronet of days gone by, the berginged, belowdered, pompous representative of Norman blood—in fact, the beau-ideal of a past agebreaties, moves and lives in Mr. Gilbert's matchiess impersonation. When he is gone we may look in vain for a Sir Peter Teazle or Sir Anthony Absolute on the Americaa stage, Mr. George Clarke, whose career at the Flith Avenue theatre last season was one of univarying success, made the love-stricken Caplam alt that conid be desired. The complete absence of all conventionalism, and his easy, natural grace, was shown to advantage and won him at once the lavor of his critical hearers. Every one knows what John Broughain can do when once emparked on his own-liberrina eiement, and his Sir Lucius was as delicious a piece of acting as rolicking humor, irresistible biarney, and careless gayety could make it. Mr. Hinggold is one of the most valuable members. the old standard quality of fashion that may always Police Court, before Judge Dowling. He was brought up in charge of detective Farley and also under the direction of Captain Kelso.

He was remanded by the Judge until to-day at ten o'clock for the production of witnesses, and he will remain in prison until after his examination has taken place.

His friends, who state they can easily prove an abid, are greatly afflicted to think the half instantly of this young man should have brought the name of their family before the public in connection with this affair, when the probability is they can prove to the satisfaction of all parties that he had no more to do with it than the "man in the moon."

The police attach no importance to the arrest, though it is a singular thing that all the lumities who have lately been arrested have made random confessions in connection with the murder of Mr. Nathan; the police hear of these statements, make the arrests and then find, as will in all probability be the case in the present instance, that they have been misled by incoherent ravings of cracked brained drunkards and innate induse. It is nevertheless a dangerous kind of joring, and it is to be hoped that the present prisoner will be taught a lesson for the trouble he has given the police, and endeavor in future to apply himself in his lapidary instead of peddling his respectable friends before the public coapled with such a serious affair as this horrid

The third of the first series of Mile. Nilsson's concerts took place last night at Steinway Hall before a large, fashionable and critical audience, and was a marked success. The favorable impression this lady created on her first appearance is firmly established She has attracted the admiration of her hearers by the parity of her voice, by her artlessness of manner, the purity of her voice, by her artlessness of manner, and utter absorption in the spirit of the music she sings. Many have been disappointed in her in not inding that magnetism and irresistible fervor which is the concomitant of genius. She will ever please an andience, and at first hearing will astonish them by the novelty of a voice, which in point of impidity and equality through all its registers has no living equal. But to say this voice possesses the electric power of a Malibran. Sontag or Grist is more than Mile. Misson's most ardent admirers would be willing to give her credit for. She is a thorooghly accomplished artiste, and on the operatic stage will undoubtedly produce a more marked effect than when confined within the narrow limits of the concert. She fairly carries her andlence with ner by sherr force of magnetic influence. In action, manner and expression her power really lies. In opera she would be overwhelmingly effective. This was shown last night, when at the concinsion of the romanza "Connais-tu le Pays," obedient to a general call she reappeared and sang "The Last Rose of Summer." She sang it magnificently, but with a pathos and tenderness of expression which fairly electrided the audience. Mile, Nilsson sang during the concert an "Ave Marla," by Gonnoid; "Grand Scena" and "Cavatina Lucia di Lammermoor," "Connais tu le Pays," and that gen of Irish music which was her greatest triumph. Miss Annie Louise Cary distinguished herself in the duet of "La Favortia," with Signor Verger, who was also effective, while Signor Brignoli in "M'Appari from "Martha," was deservedly applanded. Mr. Henry Vieuxiemps' performances on the violit drew the willing plaudits of the brilliant audience. Aitigether the concert was asplendid performance throughout, and gave entire satisfaction. and utter absorption in the spirit of the music she

THE "BULL" MAHON STABBING AFFRAY.

John Mahon, the proprietor of a liquor store at the corner of Fifty-third street and First avenue, and better known by the name of "Buli" Mahon, from his ferocious looking appearance, was yesterday arraigned at the Yorkylle Police Court, charged with stabbing Patrick Sanders in the eye on Saurday might hat. As the wound of Sanders is not considered mortal, Justice Coulter necepted ball in $500 to appear for trial when wanted. On being discharged, Mahon made a counter charge against Sanders and the latter's brother, John Sanders, for bursting open the door of his saloon, as he alleges, to compel him to give them liquor. John Sanders also gave ball, and he too was let go. This is probably the last of the case, as it was a drunken scrape all round.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE SURIEVALTY CONTEST.

Formal Withdrawal of Judge Edward J. Shandley-His Speech at the Oriental Club House Last Night.

The nomination of Matthew T. Brennan as the regular Tammany Hall candidate for Sheriff may be set down as a certainty, the only other contestant for the coveted prize (audge Shandley) having de-clared a cessation of his efforts in that direction. On last evening the parlors of the great east side resort, the Oriental Club House, situated in East Broadway, near Clinton street, were crowded to repletion, many of those present being prominent in metropolitian political circles, including, among others, Bernard Smyth, President of the Beard of Education; Fire Commissioner Blair, Police Commissioner Smith, Excise Commissioner Williams, General William M. Tweed, Jr.; Judge Koen, Inspector Jameson and Assemblyman Campbell, all evidently in expectancy of an interesting local political event. At hine o'clock Marshal Tooker, leading a delegation of about

Assemblyman Campbell, all evidently in expectancy of an interesting local political event. At mine o'coock Marshal Tooker, leading a delegation of about twenty prominent Thirteenth warders, arrived, who were immediately ushered in. Judge Shandley, President of the Orientals, being mformed of their presence, came forward and was addressed by the chairman of the visitors as sollows:—

Judna—The gentlemen you set before you are a committee appointed by the Thirteenth Ward Democratic Legion, under mistractions from that body, to want upon and present to you in its minne this paper, bearing a copy of the resolutions expressive of their preference for you as a candidate for the shrievalty. The very greatly increased political strength you have recently developed justifies the assertion that your nomination by Tammany Hall would most materially and to the fulness of the success which awaits the democracy, particularly of the Oriental district. I have known you from boylood, and this knowledge animates the hope I have long entertained that the devoltion of the casts side democracy might be recognized and its contributive majorities rewarded by the selection of their representive man as the nominee of the party for the most important or our county offices. "Good" and clapping of hands.]

The Judge, after some little hesitancy, responded as follows:—Ar. Chairman and gentlemen of the committee—I was led to anticipate your visit here to-night, but shall, nevertheless, speak only orderly in reply to the communication by Tammany Hall for Service, and the gentlemen of the original friends and both of the provide and accept the resolution and give my thanks in return. An enthusiastic meeting was held last evening at donroe Hall, corner of Centre and Pearl streets, under the auspices of the Walter Roche Club, said to be the solid organization of the ward, for the purpose of raising a banner in honor of Matthew T. Brennan for Sheriff. Amid a profusion of fireworks and thundering of cannon and applicuse the banner was unfuried to the breeze. In the ball the meeting was called to order, and Mr. Waller Roche was elected chairman and Dr. William T. Nealis secre elected chairman and Dr. William T. Nealus secre-tary. Messrs, William F. Howe, Aigernon S. Sulli-van, ex-Coroner William C. Gover, Thomas Dunn-English, formerly of the Legislature of New Jersey, and F. A. Glover delivered brief and stirring ad-dresses. After the meeting adjourned the members of the club proceeded to their club room and tendered a welcome seremade to Walter Roche, who has lately returned to the city from his Eu-ropean wedding tour. After partsking of the tempt-ing viands the assemblage was called to order, and Mr. Glover, on behalf of the club, welcomed Mr. Roche. The latter gentleman replied in a few feel-ing remarks. Among the many promiment gentle-men present were Assistant Aiderman Lysaght, Deputy Sheriff W. H. Sheids, John G. O'Keefe, W.m. A. McLaughlin, Capitain Kennedy, Sixth ward A. GREELEY ON THE CAMPAIGN.

Serenade Last Evening to Mr. B. F. Manierre-Speeches by Horace and General Barnum, and a Song from Mr. Oliver. A few republicans serenaded Mr. Ben F. Manterre

ast night, at his residence, in Twenty-fourth street, As a political gathering the affair was very much of a fizzle, in spite of the exertions of Grafulla's band and a copious profusion of Chinese lamps and bine lights. The people present could have been counted by scores rather than by hundreds. As soon as the venerable Manierre had returned thanks, Mr. H. Greeley, in response to loud calls, came forward and indulged in a few not very pointed remarks. He confined himself chiefly to discussing the prospects of the republican party in the pending campangn. He alluded to the statements made in reference to certain feelings of jeanbows alleged to certain feelings of jeanbows alleged to certain feelings of jeanbows alleged to only, he said, had there been no jealousy, but there had not been any rivairy between them. General Woodford had indeed personally offered to withdraw if he (H. G.) had desired it. (Here a voice from the crowd sung out in the purest Tribine English, "That's a lie!") He had replied that the Convention in its wisdom would decide which man was the strongest. General Woodford was connected with the Army of the Republic, and had been selected as the soldiers' candidate. He saw no reason why the republicans should not carry the State, though he regretted extremely the faintheartedness that seemed to have overwhelmed them. As soon as Horace had finished most of the crowd left; but General Barnum made an additional and somewhat lengthy speech, rather lugubrious in its tone and decidedly apologetic so far as General Woodford was concerned. scores rather than by hundreds. As soon as the Woodford was concerned.

A song from Mr. Oliver—a variation from the accepted reading of the "Battle Cry of Freedom"—closed the proceedings.

KINGS COUNTY POLITICS.

Meeting of the German Democratic Committee.

The Kings County German Democratic General Committee met last night at their rooms, in Fulton avenue, Dr. P. M. Nichtern presiding. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting the chairman stated the object for which they had been called together. They had met, he said, for the purpose of endorsing and ratifying the democratic state nominations and to make arrangements for the organization of German ward clubs in every ward throughout the city, and also in the county towns.

Resolutions were then adopted heartily endorsing Governor Hoffman's renomination and eulogizing his administration in the most congratulatory terms.

After addresses by General Koasley, Joseph Strauss and others the meeting adjourned.

MISCELLANEOUS POLITICAL NEWS.

Letter from Alexander H. Stephens in Reply to Attorney General Akerman.

Alexander H. Stephens has written a letter to the editor of the Georgia Constitutionalist, in which he essays to reply to remarks recently made by Attorney General Akerman touching political affairs in the South. The following concluding portion of Mr. Stephens' epistic will give an idea of the tenor of his argument:—

This Cabinet usase of Mr. Attorney General shows nothing more clearly taan the power of the traths indirectly, and the obliteration, if possible, of all the great facts of our history, can they bring the public mind to receive the doctrine attempted to be institled by him in his Atlanta speech, which amounts to this, that the States of this Enion have no higher position in the scale of existence than mere legal corporations. Shades of Ames, Samuel Adams, Parsons, Elisworth, Hancock, Madison, Hamiton, Marshall, Jackson, Jefferson and Washington! I will not say that such a doctrine ought to be suppressed, but with all the respect for high official position which I can command. I will say that the Attorney General of the United States, in putting forth such sentiments, ought to have bushed, if not for his own reputation at least from a proper sense of reverence for the memories of the illustrious dead. The union of these States nothing but a union of a sort of corporations, to be fashioned, moulded, controlled and shorn of their rights by and at the will of the central government. This "confederated republic," as Washington styled it in his message to the Senate—this "union of sovereign members," as Jackson spoke of it in his inaugura! address, a coording to the teachings of the present Attorney General, is nothing but an aggregation of corporations. Bare creatures of municipal law. This, in substance, is my understanding of his most insidiously inculcated imperializing doctrine. If by the suppression or truth this doctrime can be established, then, indeed, will be consummated that most immentation, that "the States can never lose their powers lift the whole people of America are robbed of their libernes."

The probibitionists in Michigan, thinking their principles should be carried into national as well as State politics, have nominated Gilman C. Jones for Congress for the Second district.

The republicans of Nebraska have been greatly exercised to find a suitable successor to United States Scuator Thayer, whose term expires in March next. Twenty-seven eminently qualified candidates, each with "claims" irresistible, were found ready to sacrifice themselves on their country's altar.
